DESCRIPTION

Selis was designed by Toso & Massari in 1992 to be a functional yet beautiful ceiling / wall lamp. Its simple form lets the high quality handmade glass it is made of shine both literally and figuratively. Selis is handmade in Italy using a traditional Venetian glass blowing technique called incamiciato, where a Maestro glass blower use multiple layers of glass, each of different transparencies and properties, in order to create a rich satin white finish that is strong and provides perfect diffused light in your space. Available in small, medium, and large sizes with Halogen or Incandescent lamping to provide you with a perfect and functional lighting solution for your hall, office, home or contract project.
