Cardano Closed Chandelier

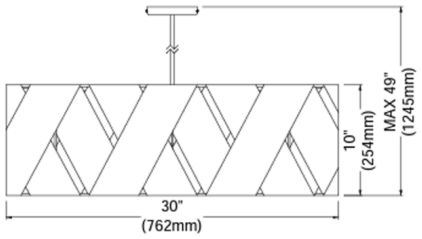

By Dainolite

Description

The Cardano family of lighting exudes a confident sense of style that will become a center of attention anywhere you place it. Combining elements of early to mid-century design with sleek modern flair and materials, it's a look that will enhance transitional or modern dcors. A metal frame drops to hold a drum style shade with a ribbon mat in two different configurations, one open with a linear effect, the other woven into a solid, textural finish. The sophisticated attention to detail draws the eye. Cardano lighting can unify your home with singular panache, using the open design for kitchens and other areas where bright light is preferred, and the woven format for more subtle lighting.
