Flora Backyard Rug

By Nanimarquina

Description

The Flora Backyard Rug is a literal representation of one of Santi Moix's works, in which the original piece has been transferred as faithfully as possible to a rug using the hand-tufted technique. Its name refers to the backyard, where the flora tends to be wilder. Hence, it is a mural that takes a more disorderly approach in which the flowers are presented on a spectacular scale. It includes lines in low relief that embody the artist's pencil sketches.
