Fluorite Box

By Currey & Company

Description

The Fluorite Box is a luminous decorative box made of stone. The name was inspired by the solid Fluorite panels that are glued together to create this accessory with an abundance of sheen, thanks to the iridescence of the natural material. Because this is an elemental piece, there will be significant variations from box to box, some leaning toward purples and pinks, while others will have hints of green mixed in. The inside of the box has been honed so it is smoother while the outside is matte.
