Lampe Cabanon Table Lamp

By Nemo

Description

The Lampe Cabanon Table Lamp is named after Le Corbusier's summer home, which he designed in 1952 as a seaside retreat from city living. Just as the home served as an archetype of essential living, the Lampe Cabanon showcases the optimism of mid-century design. Its unique, triple-cylinder shape was inspired by the mortar shell carriers littered across post-war French beaches, and the paper shade recalls the ample supply of tracing paper Le Corbusier used in his studio. Dimmer switch located on cord.
