Third Pendant

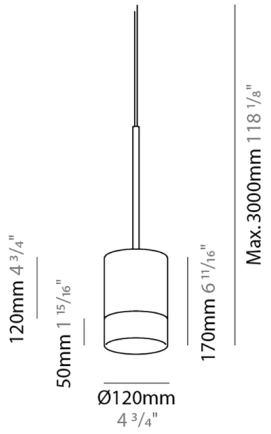

By ZANEEN design

Description

Third blends together lacquer with wood, inspired by the mid-century and modern farmhouse trends. The body structure of Third is divided into three equal parts, two of which make up the head stamped in lacquered steel and the third part is a diffusing shade carved in ash. The light distribution of this pendant lamp is focused and generates a halo of subtle light, now also available in a modular suspension version for added flexibility and customization. The conflicting asymmetry of its combination of materials make it very attractive for architects and interior designers.

Shown in matte black lacquer / ash wood
