Crown Glass Table By 101 Copenhagen

Description

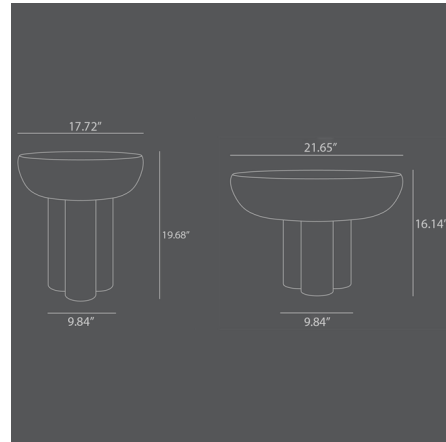

Introducing the Crown Collection, where elegance meets architectural artistry in exquisitely crafted, mouth-blown glass. Each Crown Table is formed as a single, seamless piece, featuring a circular tabletop resting on four cylindrical legs achieving a perfect balance between structure and simplicity. Inspired by the raw, monolithic elements of Brutalist architecture, the design pays homage to the beauty of columns while embracing a refined, minimalist aesthetic. Meticulously crafted through a complex mouth-blown glass process, each table begins with molten glass heated to 1500 degrees Celsius, then shaped inside a custom mold. Air is expertly blown into the form, giving rise to the iconic Crown silhouette. Once removed from the mold, the glass undergoes a controlled tempering process before its base is precision-cut for a level stance. The inner surface is then carefully spray-painted to achieve its signature, dimensional hue. To ensure stability and durability, the glass structure is mounted onto a wooden base with internal metal reinforcement, combining aesthetic purity with functional resilience. Due to the artisanal nature of its creation, subtle variations and air bubbles may occur making each table a one-of-a-kind statement piece. With its sculptural presence and impeccable craftsmanship, the Crown Table seamlessly integrates into both residential and commercial spaces, offering a timeless expression of modern simplicity.
