Nur Pendant By Artemide

Description

The Nur Pendant is a cornerstone of modern design, offering a sleek form and sophisticated light diffusion that enhances any contemporary interior. This elegant fixture features a beautifully crafted aluminum body, providing a durable and refined exterior that defines its minimalist aesthetic. Central to its distinguished light emission is an inner thermoplastic diffuser, which works in harmony with a beautifully sculpted borosilicate sanded glass upper cap. This thoughtful combination of materials ensures a soft, even distribution of light, creating an inviting and comfortable ambiance free from harsh glare. The Nur Pendant is available in a classic Aluminum or a deep Anthracite Grey finish, offering versatile aesthetic integration into various design schemes. It also provides two lamping options, giving you the flexibility to choose the ideal light source to meet your specific preferences for brightness and energy efficiency. This pendant is an ideal choice for illuminating dining tables, kitchen islands, or as a sophisticated anchor in any modern living space.
