Ruspa Table Lamp

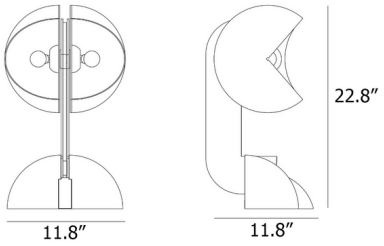

By Martinelli Luce

Description

The Ruspa Table Lamp takes its name from the Italian word for bulldozer, a reference to its moveable arms and reflectors that recall the look of a bulldozer's front blade and hydraulic arms. The two halves of the reflector shade can be raised and lowered independently to direct light upwards or downwards, and the arm tilts backwards and forwards. Originally designed in 1968, Ruspa is a mid-century Italian classic that will stand out in any space. On/off switch on cord.
